Minerals Law of Mongolia 2006 amended as of 2014.07.01

Article 401. Protection of cultural heritage

401.1. License holder shall bear obligations under legislation on protection of the cultural heritage and Articles 402 and 46 of this law.

401.2. It is prohibited to engage in minerals prospecting, exploration and mining without procuring prior exploration and research by the paleontology, archeology, and ethnicity professional organizations and obtaining permission thereof.

/Above 401 was added under Law dated 15 May 2014/

Article 402. Obligations of License holder with respect to the protection of cultural heritage

402.1. License holder shall have the following obligations with respect to protection of cultural heritage:

402.1.1. to allow the officials of the state and local administrative bodies authorized to control the implementation of the legislations on protection of cultural heritage and state supervisory inspectors to enter into the exploration area and to conduct onsite inspection;

402.1.2. to ensure the intactness of the cultural heritages reveled in the course of minerals prospecting and exploration and to register such heritages in the registry and database of cultural heritages under applicable law, and to transfer such heritages to the relevant authority for storage.

/Article 402 was added under Law dated 15 May 2014/